this special meeting called to consider the matter.

The plans for which the vote of the meeting was cast contemplate a three story addition on the rear of the present building, costing, according to rough estimates, $40,000. The selection of this plan was made from one of these different plans drawn and of three diffe:rent plans drawn and ranging from $24,000 to $60,000 in es-timated cost.

Building Committee, Building Committee.

Exalted Ruler William W. Beckwith presided at the meeteing and, in accordance with the motion made, named the following building committee to proceed to procure estimates: Judge Nelson J. Ayling, O. E. Wulf, J. W. Cadden, Andrew Connor, George W. Carroll, John A. Brady and J. D. Lucy.

Entrance on Park Street. Entrance on Park Street.

The general dimensions of the addition would be 103 feet long by 70 feet in width, this length making it extend at both ends beyond the present building. On the Park street front there would be a regular main entrance, leading to the large assembly hall which is the feature of the plan on the second floor of the addition.

Basement Floor.

Excavation at the level of the present rathskellar would provide for the basement floor of the building in which would be located a pool and billiard room, $4x42, at the westerly and front end of that floor. A serving room and kitchen, 18x57 is east of this, and back of the serving room is a hall-with the present home. Basement Floor.

THE CHRISTIAN LIFE

A DARING ADVENTURE Rev. G. H. Strouse the Speaker at Y. M. C. A. Meeting.

Sunday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. Rev. George H. Strouse of the First Baptist church addressed the men's and boys' meeting held together. Speaking on the Hidden Treasure and the Pearl of Great Price. He emphasized the fact that Christian life was a daring advention of the contract of daring adventure and when Christ left his father's home and came to this earth it was a daring thing. The heart of Christ warms up to the man who is willing to sacrifice for him. The man in the parable doubtless had other treasures but he was willing to part with them all in order to obtain the greatest of treasures and likewise the pearl of great price. The master has little use for the man who is always the contract of the pearl of the man who is always the contract of the pearl of the contract of the pearl of the contract of the on the fence. The speaker said he would rather be a pastor in a church one year and make something move than be a pastor twenty and do noththan be a pastor twenty and do noth-ing. The Christian life is a strenuous one and demands all the grit that one possess; often it leads to hardships, but it pays in the end. In other words to follow the leadership of the Christ, is indeed a man's job.

The attendance was large and attentive to the address. Waldo S. Newbury presided at the piano.
